News by Cable Today From All Over the World

VANCOUVER, B. C.—All British Columbia coal has been advanced $1.00 per ton at the mines.

SEATTLE.—The Jefferson sailed north at 9 this morning. The following passengers were booked for Wrangell: Miss L. B. Breece, Mrs. A. Tiller.

LINCOLN.—The Prohibition National convention tendered Bryan the Presidential nomination by resolution.

SEATTLE.—Twelve men and seven women were arrested this morning in the midst, so police say, of a home brew party, in the Queen Anne home of B. T. Walling.

VALLEJO, Cal.—Four hundred gallons of alcohol consigned to Mare Island Navy Yard hospital was stolen from a tank car in transit.

MISSOULA, Mont.—G. B. Greely, chief of the United States Forest Service, has arrived here from Washington on his way to Alaska, where he will formulate plans in connection with the establishment of pulp mills there.

CORK.—Two military lorries loaded with soldiers passing through the streets of Cork at three o'clock in the morning were attacked by civilians with bombs and blown up. Seventy soldiers were injured. The civilians threw twenty-nine bombs.

TOKIO.—The House has passed a budget involving tremendous military expenditures.

NEW YORK.—More than two thousand motion picture workers in New York and vicinity are out on strike tying up or crippling a score of film plants.

COLUMBUS.—George White of Marietta, Ohio, has been elected chairman of the Democratic National Committee succeeding Cummings. White has served three terms in Congress. He is a leader of the dries. In 1898 Mr. White went to the Klondike where he mined and prospected for two years.

MARION.—The Republican campaign attained full speed ahead today with the formal notification here to Senator Harding of his nomination for the presidency of the United States on the Republican ticket. The notification ceremonies brought to Marion most of the leaders of the party and thousands of Harding supporters. Senators Harding in his speech of acceptance interpreted the Chicago platform and declared the principles upon which he expects the campaign to be fought out.

Roumania's Oil Wells.
Many of the Roumanian oil wells are not in working order, which is chiefly due to the military measures taken by the allies at the time of the German advance in Roumania. Although Gen. Falkenhayn's experts devoted particular attention to the reconstruction of the dismantled wells, their work was crowned with limited success, and it will take a long period of systematic work to raise the Roumanian oil fields again to their pre-war importance. The Roumanian government is reported to have lately concluded a convention with the Austrian government whereby they are to supply the Austrians with petroleum and other material of primary necessity in exchange for industrial products.

Airplanes Are Delayed by Many Mishaps

LATEST BULLETIN

Just as we were going to press a bulletin was received stating that the four planes took off from Grand Rapids at noon today for Winona, Minnesota.

As stated in our last issue the airplane squadron has left Mineola, New York. The aviators expected to arrive in Wrangell in three or four days after leaving New York, but a big disappointment was in store for them—and for us.

After many vicissitudes extending over a period of eight days three of the planes have arrived in Grand Rapids a distance of 630 miles from the starting point. At this rate the squadron should reach Wrangell early in September, but let us hope that conditions will be more favorable for flying during the remainder of the flight, and that the birdmen will soon be in the North. While the delay is greatly to be regretted it is fortunate that the mishaps are occurring in the East, which is the least hazardous part of the flight.

The machines are De Havilland 4-B, a development of the De Havilland 4 used in overseas service. The most important change in their construction is the removal of the pilots' seats forward of the gasoline tank, limiting the danger of its crushing the pilot in the event of a crash.

Each machine carries a pilot, and a mechanic or observer. Army photographers are traveling in two planes for obtaining a pictorial record of the trip.

At each landing place the supply of gasoline and oil is replenished. When a squadron takes off from a field each plane leaves with 117 gallons of gasoline and 12 gallons of oil.

The scheduled stops and the distance of each flight are as follows:

	Miles
Mineola to Erie	320
Erie to Grand Rapids	310
Grand Rapids to Winona	280
Winona to Fargo	240
Fargo to Portal	210
Portal to Saskatoon	290
Saskatoon to Edmonton	300
Edmonton to Jasper	200
Jasper to Prince George	200
Prince George to Hazelton	220
Hazelton to Wrangell	210
Wrangell to Whitehorse	300
Whitehorse to Dawson	250
Dawson to Fairbanks	275
Fairbanks to Ruby	240
Ruby to Nome	300

The flyers have equipment to kill and cook wild game if forced to land in wild territory.

Capt. Sinclair Streett, who is in command of the flight, carries a congratulatory message from Steffanson to Explorer Roald Amundsen, who is expected to arrive at Nome early in August.

The expedition on reaching its destination will fly a hundred miles to Cape Prince of Wales, which will bring it within 50 miles of the continent of Asia. The purpose of going to Cape Prince of Wales is to gather data for the establishment of an air mail route. They will also make a report on the feasibility of a commercial air route in Interior Alaska.

If the trip is made successfully it will be the longest ever attempted and the most difficult ever thought of on the western hemisphere.

Fowler Starts Tourist Resort On the Stikine

J. J. Fowler, the veteran prospector and mining man of the Cassiar, is building a resort on the Stikine river twelve miles above the international boundary at which place hot springs are located. Mr. Fowler has one large building almost completed.

There is probably not a more desirable place for a summer resort in the entire north than the spot selected by Mr. Fowler. The hot springs supply water at various degrees of temperature which is especially desirable for bathing. The waters of these hot springs are also known to be especially beneficial for rheumatism. The Stikine and smaller streams in that vicinity afford excellent fishing. No grander scenery can be found in the North than the Great glacier and the surrounding mountains which are always in view. While this resort is being started primarily as a summer resort it would be an ideal place for any one desiring a northern frontier experience to spend the winter hunting and trapping.

Deputy Marshal Kavanaugh of McCarthy dug up a small cache of booze in the vicinity of the ball park at that place last week. It was such vile stuff that it was buried to get rid of it.

The Dawson chamber of commerce is having a thousand copies of a pamphlet printed descriptive of the district, for the information of tourists who may visit the city this summer.

Dawson is stirred up over the question as to whether small change of less value than a quarter will be used in the city. Nothing less than a quarter has heretofore been used there.

The Dominion government is planning the erection of a radio station at Mayo to connect with the Eagle radio. This will serve the new silver camp on the Yukon.

"The Midnight Sons," a social organization of unmarried males, gave party at Cordova recently. Every town in Alaska has a number of "nuts" eligible to join an order of this kind.

Natives of St. Mary's Igloo section netted approximately $14,000 in their winter's fur catch. They secured a total of 352 foxes and 246 other pelts during the winter. The white trappers in the same district are said to have also been highly successful.

Three young ladies of Mobile, Alabama, are carrying advertisements in the Skagway Alaskan. All three are doing office work and desire to correspond with some young men under thirty-five years of age, with matrimony as their object.

Fire protection for Hyder is being urged by the Commercial association of that place. More fire buckets have been ordered and barrels of water have been placed at many convenient places around the town ready for use at an instant's notice.

There is an acute shortage of men throughout the Northern division of Alaska. Men are needed

Columbia & Northern Plant Is Taken Over For a Crab Cannery

The Columbia & Northern cold storage plant at Wrangell has been secured by A. H. Range of Portland who will arrive in Wrangell at an early date for the purpose of starting a crab cannery here.

Mr. Range came north last month seeking a location for a crab cannery. After visiting various points in Southeastern Alaska he decided Wrangell was the logical place for the location of a crab cannery. In order to insure his project having the support and cooperation of the people of Wrangell Mr. Range sought to get some of the local people interested in his proposition. The ready response which came from the leading business people of the town was satisfactory assurance that Wrangell welcomes any legitimate enterprise, and is willing to give its moral support thereto.

The following citizens of Wrangell have subscribed for stock in the crab cannery:

Mayor J. G. Grant,
Hon. P. C. McCormack,
Donald Sinclair,
George H. Barnes,
H. D. Campbell,
Mrs. C. J. Bevier,
Samuel Cunningham,
L. C. Patenaude,
Leo McCormack,
H. P. McCormack,
Mrs. Fanny Wheeler,
F. E. Gingrass,
H. E. Harvie,
I. C. Borge,
Wesley Sornberger.

ed all along the line of the government railroad south of Nenana and are also badly needed by the road commission.

A Seward resident, thinking that the town council was responsible for all trouble, recently put in a bill to the council for $240.75 worth of material destroyed by a fire which occurred within the city limits. The city refused the bill.

A trading party left Nenana last week bound for St. Michael and later to Siberia, to trade with the natives there. The party is composed of Gee Pole Larsen, Ole Jacobson and the Scurvy Kid. They will pick up their outfit at St. Michaels and cross to the Siberian side. The Scurvy Kid was on a trading trip to Siberia last year.

More than 10,000,000 feet of timber were taken from the Chugach National Forest, according to recent reports received at Cordova. Over 6,000,000 feet were accounted for in 112 individual sales and more than 4,000,000 feet were used by the Alaska Engineering Commission in its railway construction work. This is an increase of approximately $5,500,000 over last year's sales from the forest reserve.

Independence of Ireland Being Con- sidered by Britain

LONDON.—Great Britain has advised the Polish Government to ask the Soviet of Russia for an armistice. Announcement has been made in the House of Commons that Finland, Latvia and Lithuania had declined the British invitation to a peace conference in London. It was stated that the Soviet reply to the British peace proposal has been received.

Mrs. I. C. Borge returned on the Jefferson from Juneau where she attended the wedding of her sister, Miss Lessie George and Mr. Martin Burkland.

The Steamship Jefferson which was in port southbound Saturday morning had a cargo of 50 tons of gold concentrates from the Alaska Juneau mine.

Wilbur Ward, editor of the Juneau Capital, paid the Sentinel a pleasant fraternal call Saturday evening. Mr. Ward was enroute to Los Angeles on a short vacation.

Fred Bevier yesterday laid the keel for a boat for Peter Behrs which will be 38 feet in length with a beam of 8½ feet. The boat to be powered with a 12-h p Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Wood, sr., arrived on the Princess Pat Monday evening from a two months' visit at Craig. Mr. and Mrs. Wood are the parents of Mrs. G. H. Tozier and Chas. A. Wood.

At the meeting of the Wrangell Town Council last Thursday evening an ordinance was passed providing for a municipal magistrate for the town of Wrangell. Judge Wm. G. Thomas was appointed municipal magistrate.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ludwig arrived in Wrangell the first of the week. The couple came north from Oregon several months ago, stopping in Ketchikan. Mr. Ludwig has accepted a position as carpenter with the Alaska Sanitary Packing company, and the family will probably locate here. Mrs. Ludwig is a niece of Judge William G. Thomas.

Henry Krauss, the Jean Val-Jean in Les Miserables in "A Vagabond of France," was seen on the screen at the Rink last night. Henri Krauss is a first cousin of Frank Spaulding of Wrangell, the actor's mother and Mr. Spaulding's mother being sisters. Mr. Spaulding says that his cousin is the son of a banker of Bamberg, Germany. The father planned a career for his son and had him given special commercial training. About the time Henry Krauss reached manhood he started on a business mission to South America. He stopped on the way in Paris. While there he felt the call of the footlights and abandoned his journey to South America. In time he became an actor who was known throughout France, and since the advent of films his fame has reached America.

PETERSBURG NOTES.

(Report)

Raymond Mathis, 13 year old son of Dr. R. C. Mathis, the local dentist, arrived from the south on the Jefferson and will spend several weeks here visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Mathis.

The Petersburg Packing Corporation reports that 6,254 cases of fish had been packed at quitting time on Tuesday night. This is said to be the record for this cannery and beats by several hundred cases the number packed at the same date in former years.

The health board was instructed to pick out a site and prepare plans for a pest house and present data at the next meeting.

Health officer Caruthers offered to vaccinate all who desired free of charge if the city will pay for the vaccine. The council voted to supply the vaccine for all free vaccinations as a precautionary measure and passed a resolution urging everyone to be vaccinated without delay.

When the Shriners were here the tables used in serving the buffet luncheon were constructed of one board each, the boards measuring 19 1/4 inches in width, 1 1/4 inches thick and 34 feet long, each board being entirely free of knots.

GIVEN NAMES OF PRESIDENTS

Historical Appellations Bestowed on Summits of Mountain Range in Old Vermont.

Heretofore when one spoke of the presidential range everyone—every New Englander, at least—knew, without further particularizing, that Mount Washington and its attendant summits was the subject, writes Allen Chamberlain in the Boston Evening Transcript.

Henceforth one must needs be more specific, since during the last year a rival presidential range has appeared on the map in Vermont. That region, hitherto generally spoken of as the Bread Loaf Mountain section, lying between Middlebury gap and the Lincoln-Warren pass, was but little known, except in its southerly portion, until the Green Mountain club men ran their Skyline trail through. They found there a maze of unnamed summits grouped as in council, and seemingly worthy of being recognized as individuals of distinction.

Just north of these heights is the rugged mass whose summits have been known for more than half a century as Mounts Abraham and Lincoln. Quite naturally the idea of a new presidential range arose and, with great partisan restraint, four of the neighboring mountains were therefore named Mount Grant, Mount Grover, Cleveland, Mount Roosevelt and Mount Woodrow Wilson.

Poisoned by Ink.

Behind the scenes at the Globe theater, where, to the delight of all playgoers, Miss Violet Vanbrugh has scored another wonderful success in "Trimmed in Scarlet," the famous actress told me this amusing story of her early days.

"We were playing 'Romeo and Juliet' on tour," she said, "and one night in the poison scene, Juliet found herself without a phial. The audience was waiting, and in despair she snatched an ink-bottle from the stage carpenter, and gasping 'Is it empty?' rushed on."

"But when the hapless lady raised the bottle to her lips and tipped it downwards, a stream of ink descended over her chin and down her white dress. The house yelled at the comical sight."—London Tit-Bits.

No More Shiny Domes.

After the wonders which we have seen worked for the soldiers who suffered disfigurement during the war, it is not surprising that plastic surgeons are turning their attention to improving civilians also. Ugly noses, projecting ears, harelips and all sorts of other obstacles to good looks will probably be easily corrected in the not-far-away future. The most interesting thing along this line which has been recently discovered is that no one need suffer from baldness any more. By grafting a piece of skin from some part of the head where hair is still growing onto the bald patch, a new covering is said to be insured.

Fiji Fashions.

Mr. R. W. Dalton, in his report of the trade of the Fiji Islands, says: "Shirts are gradually gaining in popularity among the Fijians. All kinds of soft tennis shirts with collar and pocket or collar and two pockets sell freely. These shirts are usually worn for dressy occasions, when the natives are generally clothed in white or cream. There is an increasing demand for khaki shorts and trousers. The shorts are either plain or with buckle knees and are being worn by Fijian men beneath or instead of a loin cloth. There is also a large sale for umbrellas."

LAY ALL UNDER CONTRIBUTION

Persian Dervishes Demand Alms as a Right, and Simple People Reluctantly Give Up.

A feature of Persian life which illustrates the simple and superstitious nature of the people of the mid-east is their tolerance of the dervishes. These weird, gypsylike beggars infest the cities and annoy the village folk in passing from one place to another, according to their vows of itinerancy.

These are not the whirling dervishes of circus fame. Whirling would be too energetic a form of worship for the members of this most ancient leisure class. Their greatest exertion consists of walking slowly and blowing a horn to announce their presence.

The dervish of Persia is known by his begging bowl, conical cap, animal skin cape and club. The weapon, which is usually a stick driven through with nails, is carried conspicuously. It fact, it seems unpleasantly ready for use when its owner calmly demands tribute. It is true that there is small danger of its use, even if alms are refused, but a refusal however polite and apologetic, is sure to arouse the wrath of the dervish. His vocabulary may be unintelligible, but the meaning of his threats and prophecies is usually understood. Fellow citizens of the dervish tribe prefer to make a gift at any cost in order to avoid having the wrath of heaven called down upon them in the masterly language of an experienced heaven invoker.

The dervish makes himself useful to the community honored by his presence by telling fortunes and stories, reciting prayers, selling charms and even curing the sick by blowing his sacred breath on them—all in return for which he turns over to his chief after deducting a living wage.

PROBLEMS FACING STRICKEN WORLD

Shall Chaos or Reconstruction in Europe Follow the Great World War?

RUSSIA ALWAYS UNDER YOKE

Easy to Understand Why the Unhappy People Have Turned to Bolshevism in Their Groping for Freedom.

Article XVI.

By FRANK COMERFORD.

The history of Russia begins with a legend. Nestor of Kiev, an old monkish chronicler, tells the story. Kiev is the mother of Russian cities. In the ninth century Slavs and Finns lived in a tribal state in the forest region near Lake Ilmen, between Lake Ladoga and the upper waters of the Dnieper river. Bands of military adventurers from the land of Rus, which is supposed to have been a part of Sweden, exacted tribute from the tribes. In the year 859 the tribes threw off the yoke of the Norsemen and drove them out of the country. It was Russia's first revolution, so the old chronicler relates, and it was successful. Freed from the tyranny of the tribute takers the tribes began to quarrel among themselves. Their land was large and fertile, but civil war destroyed order. Then as now, order was the first essential to peace and happiness. It is told that after three years of tribal war they confessed their inability to manage their own affairs and they sent a mission to Rus to invite their old masters to come and rule over them.

According to the legend, three brothers, princes of Rus, Rurik, Sineus and Truvor, accepted the call and founded a dynasty, from which many of the Russian princes of the present day claim descent.

While much discussion has been provoked as to the identity of the warriors from the land of Rus, the founders of the Russian empire, it is generally believed that they were the hardy Norsemen, who in the ninth century roamed through various countries of Europe. These roving bands invaded and conquered territory and lived as the dominant military caste until they were gradually absorbed by the native population.

Novgorod First Capital.

Prince Rurik built his capital on the banks of the River Volkhov, which with Lake Ilmen formed part of the great waterway connecting the Baltic and Black seas. By this route, the tall, blonde Norsemen, who composed the famous Varangian bodyguard of the Byzantine emperors, traveled from Scandinavia to Constantinople. Russia's first capital was Novgorod.

These new rulers from the land of Rus brought with them the spirit of adventure of the Norsemen. They were not contented to rule the tribes who had invited them. They set out to conquer the surrounding country in all directions, and before two hundred years had passed they had invaded Byzantine territory, established themselves at Kiev, threatened Constantinople with a fleet, secured as a consort for Vladimir I, one of their princes, a sister of the Byzantine emperor, adopted Christianity for themselves and their subjects, learned to hold in check the nomadic hordes of the steppe, and formed matrimonial alliances with the reigning families of Poland, Hungary, Norway and France. They became a great power in eastern Europe.

They had great appetite for conquest, but they lacked the power to organize the territory they conquered. The political future of the new state was destroyed when the princes of the Rurik dynasty divided the state into a number of independent principalities. For a time these were weakly and loosely held together by the patriarchal authority of the senior member of the family, the grand prince, who ruled in Kiev. Family quarrels became frequent. These princes were strong men. They wanted power. They strove to enlarge their territories at the expense of their rivals. The traditional authority of the grand prince declined. Yaroslav the Great was the last of the grand princes. With his death in 1054, family feuds multiplied and disintegration set in. During the next 170 years, from 1054 to 1224, Russia was split into over sixty principalities. Disputes over the question of succession led to eighty-three civil wars.

Ruined by Internal Struggle.

During these interminable struggles of rival princes, Kiev, which had been so long the residence of the grand prince, was repeatedly taken by storm, and ruthlessly pillaged. Finally the whole valley of the Dnieper fell a prey to the marching tribes of the steppe. Thereupon Russian colonization and political influence retreated northward, and from that time the continuous stream of Russian history is to be sought in the land where the Vikings first settled, and in the adjoining basin of the upper Volga. Here new principalities were founded, some of them having a grand prince, who no longer professed allegiance to Kiev. Thus appeared the grand princes of Suzdal, of Tver, of Ryzan and of Moscow—all irreconcilable rivals with little or no feelings of blood relationship. The more ambitious and powerful among them aspired not to succeed, but to subdue the others and take possession of their territory, and the armed retainers, who were wont formerly to wander about as free lances, gave up their roving mode of life, settled down permanently, became landed proprietors and sought to share as boyars the princes' authority.

The greatest of these principalities was Novgorod. Since the days when Rurik had first chosen it as his headquarters the little capital on the Volkhov had grown into a great commercial city and brought under subjection a vast expanse of territory, stretching from the shores of the Baltic to the Ural mountains. Unlike the other Russian principalities it had a democratic, rather than a monarchical form of government. The republic of Novgorod was the first and only flicker of freedom in the long night of Russia, and it glowed but for a short moment.

Novgorod had a prince, but he was engaged by formal contract. He was merely the commander of the troops. All the political power remained in the hands of the civil officials. They had a popular assembly which was called together in the market place as occasion required, by the tolling of the great bell. The maxim of the state was: "If the prince is bad, into the mud with him."

In Moscow a different state of affairs obtained. There the supreme law was the will and whim of an autocrat. Democratic Novgorod and autocratic Moscow became bitter rivals. The future of Russia was in balance. The question was light or darkness, day or night, freedom or slavery for the future Russians. Had Novgorod won out in the thirteenth century we might not have the problem of bolshevism in Russia today. But it was to be otherwise, and with the success of Moscow, autocracy was enthroned. The Russian night came on.

Tatar Invasion.

Then came the Tatar yoke. The "Golden Horde" conquered Russia. The conquerors built their capital at Sarai on the lower Volga. The Mongols pillaged and robbed. Tax gatherers kept the people's backs bent in toil. The first trail to Siberia was blazed, the cruel road that was to play such an important part in the horrors of Russian history. Oddly enough the first wayfarers who journeyed on this road were Russian autocrats, the degenerate and corrupt descendants of Rurik. The grand khan, the chief of the Mongol empire, lived with the "Great Horde" in the valley of the Amur in Siberia. Russian princes were puppets in the eyes of this autocrat of autocrats. He commanded them to appear before him. Before making the perilous trip the prince made his last will and testament and gave direction for the guidance of his children. Few ever came back. The road to Siberia then, as later, was a journey into the shadow of death. Some died on the trip, others found execution the reception at its end. The few who returned escaped the wrath of the great khan by sycophancy and bribery.

The princes of Moscow were the most willing and pliant tools of the great khan. They outraged and robbed their own subjects to satisfy the Mongol court. Muscovy grew strong under the Mongol empire. The betrayal of the Russians was the price. This is the taint in the blood of the czardom of Muscovy; out of this line the czars came. When the Russian princes became strong enough they turned on the Mongol empire. It was weakening. At the battle of Kulikovo, 1380, the Mongol yoke was broken.

Three czars, Ivan III, known as the Great, his son Basil, and his grandson Ivan IV, called Ivan the Terrible, whose united reigns cover a period of one hundred and twenty-two years, 1462 to 1584, forged and fixed the shackles on the people of Russia, shackles which clanked until the execution of the last Romanoff, Nicholas. It was Ivan III who snuffed out the last spark of liberty in Russia, the democracy of Novgorod. Ivan IV finished the job; popular assemblies were abolished, freedom of conscience was killed. The complete doom of the Russian people began.

TO BUILD WORKERS' HOMES

Belgium Allocates 100,000,000 Francs to Be Handled as Long-Term Loans.

The Belgian government has decided to allocate 100,000,000 francs in 1920 for building workmen's houses. This money will be lent to the local authorities or approved building societies at 2 per cent for twenty years, at the end of which time a new agreement will be entered into.

The conditions are that no loan may exceed half the cost of the building or a maximum of 6,000 francs and the rent charged must not amount to more than 4 per cent of the total cost of building.

It is officially calculated that the cost of building in the devastated areas will be about 10,000 francs to a house. A garden city of 100 houses in Roulers was begun September 21 and is to be finished in 120 working days.

Predicts Soviets for World.

A soviet wireless message received from Moscow flashed New Year's greetings to the world. The message after celebrating 1919 as a year of victory for the soviets, says: "In 1920 we shall attain a victorious end of civil war. Siberia, the Ukraine, the Don region and the Caucasus desire soviets. There also will be soviets at Berlin, Washington, Paris and London. Soviet authority will be supreme throughout the world."

WILL ROAR TOWARD GERMANY

Position of Sculptured Lion on Famous Battlefield of Waterloo is to Be Reversed.

The lion on the battlefield of Waterloo is to face the other way, and before long it will stand with open, ponderous paws roaring silently, after the manner of your fierce but considerate sculptured lions, toward Germany instead of France. Fortunately for the quiet of the countryside the roar is imaginary or the lion would long ago have become a nuisance whichever way he faced. The lion was set up by Belgium after the battle of Waterloo, and stood as a warning to France not to engage in any more Napoleonic dreams of conquest; and year after year it looked toward France, while behind it Germany prepared for the next effort to dominate other nations. It maintained its attitude while Germany carried through the program that separated Alsace-Lorraine from France; but presently behind the lion's back Belgium began to fortify, and eventually left him in the ridiculous position of looking in one direction while the Belgian fortifications looked in another. A tame lion, one might say, roaring for the edification of tourists and with no personal feeling about it. But now Belgium decides to turn him round and let him roar toward Germany as a solemn reminder of the wisdom of dreams of world conquest.

THINK TERM IS EFFEMINATE

Some Tennis Players Object to Word "Love" as at Present Employed in Scoring System.

There is talk among the overlords of tennis of finding another word than "love" to mean "nothing" in the scoring system, for, although it may surprise many to hear it, the game is sometimes spoken of as effeminate, and this bit of terminology is held responsible. Nobody has ever explained why "love" means "nothing" in tennis, but there is a footnote in an old and rare book about card-playing which refers to an old Scottish word "luff," which meant "nothing," and this, perhaps, may have been somehow transferred into the game of tennis. Or, again, the term may be of far eastern origin, where a word sounding like "love" was used in the old form of tennis that was once popular in the orient. Whether or not the terminology undergoes change, the game is in no immediate danger of falling off in popularity, and the repeated shouting of these seeming endearments across the tennis net has occasioned much innocent merriment.—Christian Science Monitor.

Honor Cuban Generals.

Cuba is to pay honor to the memory of General Maximo Gomez, the island republic's military hero, by erecting a costly monument. A first prize of $25,000 was awarded recently to Aldo Gaba, an Italian sculptor, for a model of the memorial, which is to cost $200,000. Second and third prizes went respectively to Huertas Cabarrocas, a Spanish-Cuban, and Gutson Borglum, an American. General Gomez became popular as the leader of the Cuban forces in the war for independence from Spain, from 1895 to 1898. He also took a prominent part in the Ten Years' war, a revolt which began in 1898. On the day of his death, June 18, 1905, the general's family was presented with a gift of $100,000 by the government of Cuba. At the conclusion of the Spanish-American war, General Gomez was honored at a public reception given by the American forces occupying Havana at that time.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Helium Gas Cheapened.

Up to 1915 the total output of helium gas in all the world had probably been less than 100 cubic feet, and it was worth about $1,700 a cubic foot. But just before the armistice was signed a shipment of 150,000 cubic feet of helium gas was sent to Europe, and it costs less than 10 cents a cubic foot.

Helium gas was first discovered on the sun, by spectroscopy. It is the best gas for use in balloons, because it is not inflammable. It is now extracted from the natural gas of Texas and Kansas.

The method is delicate and complex, but is based upon the fact that the principal constituents of natural gas liquefy when cooled to about minus 329 degrees F., but that helium remains a gas at that temperature, and hence is easily separated.

Surveyors Use Airplanes.

Four airplanes are being used to survey the extensive forests of Labrador to determine the value of the wood pulp represented by the growing trees. Aerial photographs will be taken of many parts of the peninsula for use in compiling statistics. The surveying party, which left the United States recently for Nova Scotia, is composed of 40 persons and is headed by a man who served two years as a captain in the British air forces.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.
